GAME 33 INDIANAPOLIS CHARLOTTE 18 - 31
SUNDAY, AUGUST 15

CAMERON INDOOR -- After both sides got off to slow starts, second-seeded Charlotte used a strong second half run to defeat third-seeded Indianapolis, 31-18, and advance to the K Academy championship game on Sunday at Cameron Indoor Stadium.

Charlotte's Kevin Mallory led all scorers in the game with 12 points and two rebounds. Charlotte's Scott Walker was critical on the boards, pulling down a game-high 12 to go along with his six points.

On Indianapolis' side, Geoff Oltmans led with seven points that all came in the first half.

It was a quick start for Oltmans, who scored seven of Indianapolis' first nine points.

In an early defensive struggle, Oltmans proved critical in giving Indianapolis (4-3) the slight, 13-10 advantage at halftime.

While the first couple of minutes didn't see much offense, Charlotte (5-2) turned it on midway through the second, going on an extended, 14-0 run to take a 24-13 lead. Mallory played a critical role in opening the flood gates, hitting a big three pointer to jump start the run.

While Indianapolis was able to get a three-pointer back, Mallory drilled his second three-pointer of the half with just over three minutes remaining to take a 27-16 lead.

Chris Duhon's Charlotte team was able to hang on from there, adding four more points and holding Indianapolis in check.

Indy was held to just of 2-for-20 shooting in the second half, as Charlotte denied Jon Scheyer a shot at his fourth K Academy title as Indy's head coach.

GAME 34	DALLAS	• 34
	CHARLOTTE	30
	SUNDAY, AUGUST 15

CAMERON INDOOR -- In a thrilling finish, Dallas held off a late charge from Charlotte to win the 2021 K Academy Championship, winning 34-30 at Cameron Indoor Stadium on Championship Sunday.

With head coach Nolan Smith, eighth-seeded Dallas (6-3) won its first K Academy title, doing so by having to win four consecutive games on Championship Sunday.

Dallas' Tom Cranwell and Rick Schnall led the way with 10 points each, with Schnall pulling down seven rebounds.

Charlotte (5-3) got another near double-double from Scott Walker, who had eight points and 10 rebounds, while Kevin Mallory led the team with nine points.

A quick three by Schnall opened the game on an electric note, but Charlotte weathered the storm. Mallory added four points and kicked off an 11-0 run as Charlotte grabbed an 11-3 lead with 6:42 remaining. Mallory added seven points in the first to lead Charlotte's offensive attack.

Dallas was quick to respond with an 11-2 run of its own, as Cranwell added six points in the first, but Charlotte would get the last points of the half and take a 17-16 lead at the break.

Points would be hard to come by early in the second, but a Schnall contested layup, plus the foul gave Dallas some room to breathe, as they took a 23-19 lead with 7:44 remaining. Schnall remained hot, adding another bucket to increase the lead and Cranwell kept his huge weekend going with two more to make it an 8-0 run and 28-19 lead.

Charlotte would cut the deficit to four, making it 28-24 Dallas, with just under three minutes remaining. However, Tyler Patla fought his way through traffic for a key layup, plus a foul and Dallas jumped back in front by seven.

David Linn would add a late layup for Charlotte to make it 31-26. Looking to put the game on ice, Dallas found Vernon Johnson, who was fouled and knocked down a key free throw to give Dallas a 32-26 lead. Schnall would ice the game at the free line to seal the title game.

After opening K Academy with three consecutive losses, Dallas rattled off six straight wins for the title.
